Presenter, BBC Radio IExtra & BBC Asian Network (Cover)

Presenter, Jump Off TV

After presenting a specialist music show on Leeds Student Radio for a year and winning the 'Best Specialist Music Programming' and 'Best Interview' awards at the 2012 Student Radio Awards, Mim Shaikh was selected for BBC Radio 1's Hackney Academy which allowed him to pursue his presentation skills on BBC Radio IExtra. Mim was granted an award by the Guardian Student Media Awards and the Broadcast Journalism Training Council for his television journalism skills.

Mim has gone on to present BBC Radio IExtra Talent Shows, covering shows on the BBC Asian Network and BBC Radio IExtra, worked in radio production and continues to present a weekly radio show on Repräsent Radio debating about stories taking place in youth popular culture. Mim is passionate about youth debates, comedy, film, and new music.

His growing Youtube channel showcases his visual comedic talents, including pranks, sketches, interviews, spoken word and debates. After accumulating 100,000's of views online with Jump Off TV, Mim has starred in a short film which was shortlisted at Sundance Film Festival. He briefly appeared in a structured reality TV series on BBC Three called South Side Story, and is currently working on taking his presentation skills to mainstream radio and television, building his online personality whilst pursuing his acting career.
